Dear Parents and Carers

نیوز لیٹر

Last week we celebrated Mental Health Awareness Week with lots of activities in school. We have many resources available on our website too. <https://holly-lodge.org/mental-health-awareness-students/>. Students in every form filled an envelope full of positive messages. Their messages will be paid forward in mental health week next year when their envelope is passed on to pupils in a form group the year below them. I have been very impressed with the reflective and thoughtful messages written.

In the last few weeks we have had some inspirational More Able assemblies: Economics with Dr Psyllou – Assistant Professor of Economics University of Birmingham, she spoke to the girls from Y8, 9 and 10 about how unrepresented females are in both academia and economics.

Tobias Shervington from KPMG talked about his career; he wanted pupils to know that not everyone knows 100% how they want their careers to be, but his advice was, you must be interested and invested in what you study, to be able to get the results you want, so choose your subjects carefully, work hard but enjoy what you do.

Ex Holly Lodge pupil Michaela Brown, who works for Clyde and Co, a global law firm, came and spoke about her education and career path. She also talked about being a champion at her company for diversity and inclusion, representing women, and in particular being a woman of colour.

Well done to the forms that won the Culture Day display competition with their wonderful artwork; 7H and 10A, see the photo above.

I have some dates for your diary; the summer fun day will take place on Saturday July 1st and everyone is welcome with free entry. Please make sure that all students are accompanied by an adult though. Also, you can 'Meet the Head' on the afternoon of June 6th. Email head@holly-lodge.org to book an appointment.

This week, some students in Y10 have started their practical animal care sessions at Forge Mill Farm. I heard that they really enjoyed their session. Last week, 30 More Able pupils visited the London Globe Theatre and Royal Society of the Arts, and they had a great time seeing the sights of London.

Exams are in full swing now and the students seems to be coping well. Results dates are Thursday 17th August for KS5 and Thursday 24th August for KS4. Good luck to all our leavers, we wish you the very best in your future and please stay in touch.

Enjoy your half term, we will see all returning students on Monday 5th June at 8.40am.

Best Regards
